VIDEO EDITING: THE REFINED ART OF STORY TELLING

A V Narayanan

The Film is made in the editing room, quotes Phillip Seymour Hoffman and so it is. This invisible art of crafting the story, for the wider audience seated in theatre, is so much in demand today due to the multiple platforms of audio-visual transmission provided by the Internet, social media and the ease of experiencing it even on your smartphones. Nail-biting action sequences, the shudder and reactions in horror films, the expansion and condensing of the romantic story... while everything falls into the right rhythm and pace, we have often wondered about the invisible art of storytelling.

Though the term editing had gained acceptance in printing of newspapers and books, editing as the refined art of storytelling in the visual and audio realm, took shape post the acceptance of films as medium of communication and art. Even since Lumiere Brothers introduced the Cinematograph, many names like Edwin S Porter, Sergei Eisenstein, Alfred Hitchcock and Jean Luc Godard are so on got associated with the history of editing. Film (film-negative) as physical medium, went through many processes and editing was prominent amongst it. Piccsync, Moviotas, Steenbecks and the film print, gave way to non-linear editing. Today editing happens in confined spaces in front of laptops or portable work stations. The journey from static cameras shooting against a studio wall to having multiple shots to narrate a story seems long, but is essentially understood, when the famous Oscar winning editor, Walter Murch quotes “Film editing is now something almost everyone can do at a simple level and enjoy it, but taking it to a higher level requires the same dedication and persistence that any art form does”.

CORRIGENDUM

Employment News issue dated July 17-23, 2021 had carried the list of new Council of Ministers following July 7, 2021 Cabinet reshuffle. In this list, in one of the entries, a wrong photograph was inadvertently carried. The correct entry is as follows:

- Minister of State in Ministry of External Affairs
- Minister of State in Ministry of Parliamentary Affairs

WRITING AN IMPRESSIVE RESUME

Ruchi Mishra

It is important to make an impactful first impression for you to become the first choice of a prospective employer. First impressions are usually not created by knowledge or experience you have. It is usually created by the way you put forth your candidature for the job, the first step of which is preparing your Resume. A Resume reaches the recruiter’s office much before than a job seeker does; building the first idea about the aspirant and her capabilities. Thus it is imperative to have a structured, precise, effective, and Impactful Resume.

Resume: Definition and Importance

Etymologically the word Resume has a French root, meaning summary. Your Resume is a compact summary of what you have done in the past, giving details to future employer about your journey and accomplishments made so far in your career.

In the present era marked by free market and consumerism, Resume must be projected as a tool to pitch your candidature as a product that can cater all the requirements of a specific job. In this way it is an advertisement of yourself to capture the attention of recruiters. It sells to the prospective employer your skills that you have acquired throughout your career, and how that would be beneficial for them. It does not only summarize your past and present but also talks about your future vision and aspiration. A good Resume ensures that you are shortlisted for the Interview. It is the first and significant step in your endeavor to get a job.

Types of Resume

There are various types of Resume that are used to apply for job openings. Let’s talk about some of the basic types of Resume that are most often used.

- Chronological Resume
- Functional Resume
- Combination Resume
- Non-Traditional Resume

RECRUITMENT TO THE POST OF DEPUTY PUBLICATION OFFICER - INVITING ONLINE APPLICATION

The National Institute of Educational Planning and Administration (NIEPA), (Deemed to be University) established by the Ministry of Human Resource Development, Government of India, is a premier Institution dealing with capacity building and research in planning and management of education not only in India but also in South Asia. In recognition of the pioneering work done by the organization in the field of educational planning and administration, the Government of India has empowered it to award its own degrees by way of conferring it the status of Deemed to be University in August, 2006. NIEPA is fully maintained by the Government of India. The National Institute has its origin dating back to 1962 when the UNESCO established the Asian Regional Centre for Educational Planners and Administrators which later became the Asian Institute of Educational Planning and Administration in 1963. After 4 years of its existence, it was taken over by the Government of India and renamed as the National Staff College for Educational Planners and Administrators. Subsequently, with the increased roles and functions of the National Staff College, particularly in capacity building, research and professional support services to governments, it was again renamed as the National Institute of Educational Planning and Administration (NIEPA) in 1978.

Infographic Resume
While the above mentioned three formats of Resume are traditional ones, an infographic Resume is a non-traditional Resume that uses elements of graphic design like graphs, icons or bar-charts. It showcases visual representation in form of the job seeker's skills and experience.

What does an infographic do? It condenses a large amount of information in text or numerical form into a combination of images and text, allowing readers to quickly grasp the essential insights the data contains.

In a crowded job market, an infographic Resume makes you different and distinct. It allows you to be creative and put yourself differently before recruiters.

The Resume with graphic elements in it becomes more engaging and the potential employer swiftly and speedily gets through it.

Like traditional Resume formats, an infographic Resume contains introduction, educational background, work experience, educational background, skills and so on. However, the USP of this Resume lies in the effective use of the visual elements. Some of the vital visual elements that are used in this format of Resume are:

1. A Photo: a decent looking photograph of the job aspirant
2. Header: each segment of your Resume to be catchy and creative
3. Statistics to showcase your work experience, skills, etc., major milestones
4. Timeline to show the path of your career with important milestones
5. Quotes/testimonials from your former employers
6. Recommendations/references from the industry leaders who can endorse you
7. Logos of the organizations where you have worked in the past

Online Resume
This is another non-traditional format of Resume where you keep your professional portfolio account in the form of personalized websites, blogs or profiles on social media platforms like Facebook, Twitter. These days employers do visit your social media accounts to get to know about you and so becomes important for you to use it judiciously as a tool to establish yourself as a professional brand. Moreover, it is pertinent here to mention about LinkedIn which is a dedicated employment oriented online platform where job seekers post their CVs while employers post their jobs. The LinkedIn Resume can be downloaded in PDF format and can be mailed to recruiters also. You must mention the URL address of your online Resumes in the traditional format also.

Video Resume
Due to the COVID-19 pandemic has brought about techno-social changes in the professional world. Digital is the future. Professionals are working from home and interacting with each other through Google meet or zoom. Interviews for the jobs are being conducted through platforms like Skype. This fast changing scenario, audio-visual branding carries weight and marks a good impression. Video Resume is one such format where a job seeker makes a short video to showcase his professional qualifications, skills and work experience. Video Resume comprises of infographics, visuals and a voice-over or commentary in the background. The duration of video should not be more than five minutes.

Resume writing for fresher
Resume writing becomes more crucial for fresher who have recently graduated from colleges and universities and are about to embark on a new journey in their career. They have no prior work experience or professional accomplishments to highlight in their Resume; therefore, Functional Resume can be the format they can use to give prominence to their professional skills and strength along with educational qualifications. The relevance of the skills, abilities and qualification as mentioned in Resume will make you a serious contender for any job opening. A fresher Resume must have a concise, objective stating professional goals and aspirations that he seeks to achieve in his career. As a fresher you have only your skills to exhibit in your Resume, so you must focus on both hard as well as soft skills. Hard skills are skills that you have acquired while undergoing any academic or vocational course, such as technical skills, computer skills, management skills, etc. Some of the important soft skills which are needed to be emphasized in a Resume include communication, confidence, emotional intelligence, adaptability and flexibility, positive spirit, teamwork, time-management, work ethics, career-oriented, and so on. You should also talk about your hobbies and interests as this will give potential employer more insight about you. An example of a template for writing a fresher's Resume can be as follows:

Header
- [Your Name]
- [Your Address]
- [Your Email]
- [Your Phone Number]
- [Your Social Media Link]

Objective
- [Career Skills]
- [Hard Skills]
- [Soft Skills]

Education
- [Name of the educational institute with acquired degree/diploma and certificate programme along with time period]

Work experience, if any
- [Name of organization with job profile and duration of work]

Hobbies and interests
- [Hobby]

Languages
- [Language]

Important tips
- Keep it crisp and concise. A Resume should not be treated as a mini autobiography but a brief summary of what you have achieved and accomplished in your career till date. An effective Resume should be of one to two pages, and not more than that.
- Same Resume should not be used for multiple vacancies. Rather, Resume should be job-specific and should match the requirements of a particular job.
- One of the most important tools of a Resume is language. The language should not be ambiguous but direct. Passive language must be avoided.
- Fonts used should not be fancy or unreadable, but traditional or professionally used fonts such as Arial or Times New Roman. The font size should be 12.
- Resume margin should be consistent, that means same size should be for top, bottom, right and left. The same consistency should be implied in paragraph spacing.
- Formatting should be consistent throughout the Resume. For example, if a heading of one particular section of the Resume is in bold character, all headings of different sections must also be bold.
- Ideally margin size should be 1”. However if required margin size can be increased to 1.5”.
- Use "Tab" and not "Spaces" for all sorts of alignment in your Resume.
- Create "Hyperlinks" of your online profiles or online work samples. Give URL of your LinkedIn profile.
- Proof-reading is a must exercise once you have drafted the Resume. Grammatical errors and spelling mistakes create a very poor impression of the job seeker. These overviews can mess up and jeopardize your chances of being called for job interview.
- Always use PDF format to send your Resume digitally.

This is often said opportunities do not happen but they create, and your endeavor to author an impressive Resume sets up the room of possibilities and openings for you. Remember, Resume is the first step that can make all the difference.

VIDEO EDITING : THE REFINED ART OF STORY TELLING

As the films shot in monochrome, changed to color and later to improved dimensions like SD and imax, so did the technical advancements in the area of editing. The advent of digital age marked an end to the tedious process of analogue editing. Today, remote editing solutions are available in which editors collaborate on one single project, from different parts of the world, balancing their storage on cloud servers, along with individual work suites acting as professional studios.

Film making has many constituents to it, the primary ones are (on shoot location) being script, direction, photography, and sound. The place where it joins together, to create a story, is editing. The tradition of storytelling thrives in narrating a story in the best possible manner to retain the attention of the viewers. As one knows there are many sides/perspectives to the oxen narrated. The craft of learning in a comprehensive manner and in relation to other aspects of post-production, like visual effects, sound design and colour-grading, is at the core of specialisation.

With Television becoming a source of in-house entertainment (daily soaps), recreation and information (news), the audio-visual realm took a leap ahead and the craft of editing got more noticed and appreciated and opened new opportunities for aspiring editors. Categorizing editing that takes place in news and sports channels as online editing and production of programmes based on events, fiction, as offline editing became the vogue.

The advent of digital age marked an end to the tedious process of analogue editing. Getting adept with technology, with right skill set, and honing narrative skills for various formats, requires detailed training. The advent of internet and the wide reach of social media have got everyone learning the ropes of communication and thus editing as basic component, in one’s repertoire. A comprehensive training from the basic to the advanced modes of putting the skills into practice vis-à-vis the projects entrusted thus becomes important.

Getting a firm grip on the narrative of any genre, fiction or non-fiction, documentary, spots, providing necessary pauses and transitions for emotive growth of characters, storyline, and managing the overall rhythm and pace, to engage the viewer with rap attention, this sums up the task of the editor. Easier said than done, learning the creative aesthetics from world cinema and accessing the modern tools provided by non-linear editing, requires a mentored training. The precision in getting the cut point, the effective jumps to transition in time, and the balanced narrative to support the message requires adept skill acquisition.

Film and Television Institute of India (FTII), Pune is a permanent member of CILECT (Centre Internationale de Liaison des ecoles de Cinema et de Televison), an international association of film schools which includes over 149 audio-visual educational institutions, from 60 countries across 6 continents. In addition, FTII also collaborates with many renowned film, TV and media schools all over the world, such as La Fenissi, France, FADW and IFS Cologne, Germany; Griffith Film School, Australia, and conducts student exchange programmes every year.

FTII, Pune established in 1961, the nation’s premiere institute, started giving specialised training in “Editing” and produced many exceptional talents, who made their presence felt and were accorded national recognition for their excellence in art of editing. The institute currently offers the best of courses in film and television specialisations. National and State honours (for fiction and non-fiction) have been awarded to the excellent technicians who have passed this course. Late Renu Saluja, Beena Paul, Sanjiv Shah, Suresh Patel, T P Ajithkumar, Arjun Gourisankar, Hemant Sarkar, Sankap Mithram are some of them. Many stalwarts in the Indian Film Industry have had their training at FTII. The alumni of editing course from FTII—Rajnikant Hens, Sajay Leela Bhansali, and David Dhawan, have excelled in film direction as well and are names to reckon with in terms of the entertainment industry.

The other editors who have won national recognition and have made a mark in the Indian film industry, like A Sreekar Prasad (a multiple time National Award winner for editing), Anthony, Praveen K L, Vivek Harshan, Mahesh Narayan, Narayan, National Award-winning editors have also shared the opinion that a detailed practice of the technique and theory holds forth while aspiring for a career in editing.

Prominent institutions offering courses in video editing

• Film & Television Institute of India, Pune
• Satyajit Ray Film & Television Institute, Kolkata
• MGR Government Film & Television Institute, Aryan, Tamil Nadu
• Government Film & Television Institute, Bengaluru, Karnataka
• State Institution of Film & Television, Rohtak, Haryana
• K R Narayanan National Institute of Visual Science & Arts, Kottiyam, Kerala
• Dr.Bhupen Hazarika Regional Government Film & Television Institute, Assam
• Bly Panah Film & Television Institute of Odisha
• National Institute of Design, Ahmedabad

Educational and Professional Qualifications

While prestigious institutes like FTII and SRFII offer 3-year editing specialisation course and other short-term courses in television editing, they demand graduation in any discipline as the admission criteria. There are many private institutions which take plus two education/pre-university as the basic qualification. However, FTII, and SRFII are the only institutions which have AICTE recognition for their approved syllabus.

State-owned institutions OFF (Karnataka), BPTIO (Odisha), SIFTV (Haryana), KFR/VBUA (Kerala) are also offering post graduate level courses in editing. Part-time courses are offered by many private institutions at varied timings (offline and online) to those wanting to take up the course not as their profession but as preferred vocation. The content, teaching techniques and completion certificate will vary with many of these courses.

Career Opportunities

Video editing as a field of expertise has broadened its scope and today branches into many areas. On OTT platforms like Amazon/Netfllx, editors are made part of the team during script discussion to ensure better narrative fluidity. The non-linear platforms of today, give the skilled personnel post training, immense opportunities to carve a niche in many genres like non-fiction editing/music videos/advertisements and so on.

CORRIGENDUM

In the article Career in Cinematography which appeared in Employment News issue dated 24-30 July 2021 the name of the author should be read as: Hiroo Keswani.

The error is regretted

In this age of vast content creation and dissemination, a trained hand in handling diverse material and formats is important and thus the demand for such technicians and content creators has increased as well.

A technically qualified editor in today’s scenario finds his/her options in these areas:

1) Television Industry: News/sports/entertainment channels offer larger scope with such channels requiring both online and offline editing. The salary and acceptance of candidates depend on their experience and inclination.

2) Film Production Houses/OTT Platforms/Netflix/Amazon - as editors of trailers/teasers/ and other promotional media

3) Digital Image Technician: Working efficiently with technical knowhow of different camera formats, editing formats, its final delivery point for color grading/DCP

4) Post-Production Supervisor: Supervising the entire post-production editing to final delivery of the product.

5) Social Media Content Creator: the adept use of editing and finishing techniques in managing YouTube and Instagram handles of various institutions/firms/personalities.

7) YouTube channels/vlogging for technical products/travel portals/software training.

8) Collaborator and Visual Content Creator with installation artists working in India and abroad.

These countries are India, Germany, France, China, and the United States. Addressing a high-level dialogue on “Expanding COVID-19 vaccine manufacture to promote equitable access”, WTO Director-General Ngozi Okonjo-Iweala said that discriminatory access to vaccines is a root cause of the unequal recovery of the global economy. In which developed economies are rebounding quickly while the rest are lagging behind. She added that the lack of full transparency in vaccine supply deals is another reason for concern.

- Ariel Henry sworn in as new PM of Haiti
  Ariel Henry has been sworn in as Haiti’s new Prime Minister amid political turmoil caused by the assassination of President Jovenel Moïse. Henry, a neurosurgeon and former Cabinet Minister, will lead the nation until a new President is chosen in an election scheduled for September. Moïse was killed in an attack at his residence in the capital, Port-au-Prince, by a group of unidentified assailants on July 7. The First Lady was also injured in the attack.
