Professor N Radhakrishnan

How does one explain the phenomenon of having the power to attract an estimated number of over 30,000 people every day to the Gandhi Memorial at Rajghat in Delhi where the Father of the Nation was consigned to flames? Among those who come there are men and women, children, youth, physically challenged, people of all religions, diplomats, Heads of foreign nations and people from all walks of life. They don’t come like tourists but come like pilgrims of peace and harmony. The eyes of many well with tears as they go round the marble slabs to pay their respects to the prophet of peace. Once when this writer ventured to ask what their impressions were on visiting the final resting place of the Mahatma, two young men who came from the rural depths of Bihar said, “He died for us. This is a place of inspiration and introspection for us.”

There is no reason to disbelieve these young men. Gandhi stood like a sentinel between the warring communities and groups. By shedding his blood at the altar of communal harmony, Gandhi effected a truce which acted like a cementing force. Gandhi taught that violence begets greater violence. The miracle Gandhi achieved in Noakhali and other places where men had become beasts is part of history and his lead continues to inspire a considerable segment of Indian masses as well as human rights activists, freedom fighters and those who seek alternative life styles and ecological protection. The deep impression Gandhi was able to make on the global psyche is also unparalleled.

Elimination of factors which promote structural violence requires to be given utmost importance. Removal of the vestiges of social evils like untouchability once and for all, gender inequality, ensuring of social justice and employment opportunities to millions of youth are among the unfinished tasks in the Gandhian agenda as we reflect on the contemporary challenges in the context of the 75th anniversary of Indian Independence.

The India of Gandhi’s dreams

As we reflect on the 75th anniversary of our independence we have every reason to feel proud of our achievements since the British left India.

“I shall work for an India in which the poorest shall feel it is their country, in whose making they have an effective voice; an India in which there will be no high class and low class of people; an India in which all communities shall live in harmony. Women shall enjoy the same rights as men… All interests not in conflict with the interest of the mute millions will be scrupulously respected; whether foreign or indigenous. I hate distinction between foreign and indigenous,” the Mahatma wrote on his vision of an India.

NATIONAL GANDHI MUSEUM

On the occasion of Gandhi Jayanti, Employment News takes a look at how the National Gandhi Museum, New Delhi, preserves, processes, promotes and shares the resources on Mahatma Gandhi. Shri A. Annamalai, Director of the Museum, in an interview with Shri S. Rangabasham elucidates the vision and mission of the museum.

The life and times of the Father of the Nation have been fondly treasured by Indians. What role does the National Gandhi Museum play in preserving Mahatma Gandhi’s legacy to be cherished by generations to come?

The National Gandhi Museum is a Gandhi Heritage which preserves the legacy of the great life. It is a fitting tribute to a man who meticulously recorded his own history. He never followed history instead he created History. Therefore, it is necessary to have a Biographical Museum for the Maker of History. The National Gandhi Museum is artistically and aesthetically curated to take the visitor through a historical journey through Gandhi’s relics, photographs, artistic expression, etc. The display starts with the entrance gallery, the spinning wheel gallery, photography gallery, the commemorative gallery, the martyrdom gallery and the art gallery.

The Museum houses a vast library, an audio-visual section, and a photography section where helped in winning freedom for the country, has been taken only casually by his countrymen. The passion with which Gandhi advocated these programs had the familiar Gandhian stamp of holistic development and development with compassion and without destruction. It took forty six years for the nation to implement Panchayati Raj — that great blueprint of the second stage of Revolution which Gandhiji envisioned. Panchayati Raj, when it was first implemented, was not in the form expected by Gandhiji, but what is important is that it exists as part of our system. It was indeed a great leap and a sure step towards empowerment of people and decentralization.

Gandhian vision of planning from the grassroots

Gandhiji proposed planning from the bottom, power to the people and involvement of people in the very process of development based on local needs taking into account not only the needs of each of the villages but also the realities of the situation. This dream of Gandhiji, if realized will give both economic fibre to the society and social strength to the individual in the ever-widening circles which Gandhi spoke about will offer sustainable and progressive character to life itself. It is hoped that the villages, which during the last 74 years of our independence, remained the backbone of our comparatively prosperous and uncivilised cities and towns, will no longer be dependent on the cities and towns once local planning will offer the village youth, peasants, women, craftsmen and artisans gainful employment right in their own villages. Gandhi pleaded for Agriculture to be given proper attention. By agriculture what is meant here is not commercial agriculture but that agriculture which will make the villagers self-sufficient in food. It should not be market-oriented. Its primary objective should be to give food to the food growers. The example provided to us by Fukukura in Japan should be a model. All small land holding farmers will have to be provided some farmland for ‘natural farming’. This natural farming will not require chemical fertilizers, pesticides etc. which will, in the long run, destroy the quality and fertility of the soil. By adopting natural farming, we will be giving both health and rest to the soil large enough to enable it to regain its fertility. The One Straw Revolution by Fukukura offers immense possibilities for adoption.

Gandhi pointed out that unless enough employment opportunities are created right in each of the villages, we will soon face a situation which will not only create great problems but it will also create overpopulation, pollution, increasing animal over grazing of slums but also the disquieting trend of unemployment youth falling into the hands of those who offer ‘immediate Revolution’ and other avenues bordering on terrorism and other escapades. We should learn enough lessons from the developments when a few years ago, the truck owners, milk suppliers and vegetable growers in the states neighbouring Delhi went on strike pressing their demands on different occasions. Life almost came to a standstill. The high prices of these goods and other items which forced the common public to go without vegetables and milk, sending shock-waves all around. It is a fact that the cities do not produce any of the essential items of food; they depend on villages and when those items produced in the villages do not reach the urban centres, both the urban and the rural centres suffer.

100 years of Charkha and Khadi

The nation thoughtfully celebrated the 100th anniversary of Gandhi’s Charkha and Khadi recently.

When Gandhiji propounded the Charkha and spinning, he did not consider it as a magic wand which will remove the poverty of India at one stroke, not did he view it essentially as something that would meet all the economic needs of those who take to spinning. It certainly had an economic motive but its ability to reform individual and shape national character was more significant for radical transformation of the society where exploitation still existed in some form or the other. Much more than any of these, Gandhiji hoped, it will bring back the message of plain, simple and honest living. It will be an instrument for transforming our society into a non-violent, classless and egalitarian one. It will also act as an instrument of liberation and a means of rebuilding of society from within as a self-dependent healthy social organism.

How far are we today from this dream? This is the question each one of us has to ask. Those who scoff at the Charkha should be able to offer an alternative. It may be noted that until today, nobody has been able to offer a credible alternative to Charkha. It is here that the relevance of Charkha comes in. Indeed, I believe that ‘Independent India can only discharge her duty towards a groaning world by adopting a simple but ennobled life, by developing her thousands of cottage industries and living at peace with the world. High thinking is inconsistent with complicated material life based on high speed imposed on us by Mammon worship. All the graces of life are possible only when we learn the art of living nobly’ Gandhi wrote in Harijan on September 1, 1946.

The amazing, perhaps alarming, manner in which social structures have been changing, particularly in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, thanks to the breathtaking developments in the field of science and technology, have added new anxieties for the entire humanity. These winds have been sweeping across India as well in a big way. In all sense, a new civilization, a new world order, a new style of living, have almost set in, whether anyone likes it or not. Gandhi’s contribution or relevance needs to be viewed in the light of these emerging scenarios as well as the basic rhythm of life. To some, Gandhi was a dreamer, Utopian pacifist whose formulations are impracticable. However, the number of those who believe that he was eminently practical is very large. Gandhi himself believed that he was a practical ‘idealist’. Knitting India into a modern nation Gandhi established his ‘ethnico’ museum into a modern nation from a mobly crowd of ethnic and linguistic identities who had lost their courage to stand up and fight for justice. He infused courage into the Indians to discover themselves and shed fear. In this process, he became the voice of the voiceless and a slave nation suddenly found its utterances and he thus molded a new generation of freedom-loving people who were not afraid of torture, jails, or death. He also offered a credible non violent alternative, and in a way, he was challenging all those who scoffed at him and paved the way for a new civilization to emerge. It is for us to draw our lesson and shape our destiny. Do we have the courage? That is the big question staring at each of us as we enter the 75th anniversary of our hardworn freedom. What the nation needs is an honest introspection to find out where we have gone wrong since independence. We need to work for rejuvenation of our society. It may also be debated as to what is the relevance of Gandhi’s insistence on simple living in the light of the growing consummative culture. Is Gandhi out of tune with the changing times or is he not reminding us of the law of Nature?

National Institution for Transforming India (NITI Aayog)

NITI Bhavan, Sansad Marg, New Delhi -110001

National Institution for Transforming India (NITI Aayog), New Delhi invites applications for appointment to Deputation (Including Deputation/Re-employment for Ex-Servicemen) basis for the following post(s):
Gandhi, while travelling the length and breadth of India during the first two years after returning from South Africa, had realised that sanitation and social hygiene was a huge and perhaps insurmountable problem. It was not the lack of knowledge alone but also the mindset which prevented people from attending to the most vital problem affecting health and environs. Gandhi understood that protest and struggle against injustice had to combine with self-improvement of the individuals and the community that was being protested.

In Educational Institutions and Conferences
Gandhi had already developed keen sense and insights in the problem of sanitation in the country. In the Social Work League meeting at Madras, he indicated that education from the school age would be the key to good sanitation. No wonder when he got first opportunity to address an educational institution, he was quick to point out the necessity of inculcating sanitation in school and higher education curricula. Speaking at the anniversary of the Gurukul Kangri on March 30, 1916, he said:

"If a knowledge of the laws of hygiene and sanitation as well as the art of rearing children should also find a necessary part in the training of the Gurukul lads. The sanitary arrangements at the Guf be left much to be desired. The plague of flies told its own tale. These irresponsible sanitary inspectors incessantly warned us that in point of sanitation all was not well with us. They plainly suggested that the remains of our food and excreta needed to be properly buried. It seemed to me to be such a pity that a golden opportunity was being missed of giving to the annual visitors practical lessons on sanitation."

Gandhi contributed an article "Our System of Education" to the Gurukul Kangri's house magazine, Sattharma Pracharak dated March 24, 1917, where he had specifically mentioned healthy body to be a necessary condition for taking good education and hence recommended the need to be educated in the principles of health and hygiene right from childhood.

Addressing the Second Gujarati Educational Conference in Bhosar (now Bharuch) in October 1917, he said that for him it was a serious bit on the state of education in the country that the educated doctors had not been able to eradicate disease such as plague. In his visits to the hundreds of homes, he did not find any evidence of knowledge about hygiene. He had made an interesting observation, "If our doctors could have started learning medicine at an earlier age, they would not make such a poor show as they do. This is the disastrous result of the system under which we are educated. People in almost all parts of the world have managed to eradicate the plague. Here it seems to have made a home and thousands of Indians die untimely deaths. If this is to be attributed to poverty, it would still be up to the Education Department to answer why, even after 65 years of education, there is poverty in India."

In November 1917, Gandhi addressed Bihar Students' Conference in Bombay. As usual, he made reference to his letter on the third class railway travel in the press.

He advised students to behave and also educate fellow passengers in the train:

"We can explain to the other passengers in our compartment the harm that results from their defiling the place. Most passengers respect Sanitation and listen to them. They should not even miss these excellent opportunities of explaining the rules of hygiene to the masses. The estimate of all stations are dirty. It is the duty of students, when they find the things dirty, to draw attention of the traffic manager to the fact, whether he replaces or not.

Cities and Villages
In Bagesar address, Gandhi mentioned division of most of the Indian cities into cantonment and the city proper. Cantonment area was used as homes for British and other government officials and may be some rich people. In the report, which was obviously older than the cantonment was usually a stinking den with the hamlet (mohalla) based easy-going habits that abused existing sanitation laws and civic traditions. While passing through a mohalla street, experiencing a spit from the building above would be a common experience. From Benares, Gandhi went to Madras (now Chennai) to attend the Missionary Conference. There was his first reference to village sanitation in public speech on Swadeshi. In the context of discussion on teaching in vernacular versus English, he made the following point with regard to sanitation:

"Had instruction in all the branches of learning been given through the vernacular, I make bold to say that they would have been enriched wonderfully. The question of village sanitation, etc., would have been solved long ago."

He also spoke at the Madras Social Service League. One of the main planks was sanitation and hygiene in the city at large. From the text of Gandhi's speech a reader can gather that the lady who chaired the meeting took Gandhi, prior to the meeting, to a nearby locality where the League had done some useful work in the area of sanitation and cleanliness. He referred to it in his speech and said that the Chair Lady had taken him to Janakpuri village and described its condition before the League's work began. Upon looking at its status after the League's work, Gandhi found the place worth praising. He said in his speech:

"After seeing the village, I made bold to state that it is a model of cleanliness and order and it is much cleaner than some of the busiest and the most central parts of Madras. That is undoubtedly a creditable piece of work on the part of the Social Service League and if the League can penetrate into the recesses of Madras and do the same kind of work, certain things which I have noticed in Madras will be conspicuous by their absence when I next pay my visit to this great city. (Cheers). These things stare us in the face and have got to be remedied. When our Parseh brethren are amenable to reason and persuasion, shall we say that the so-called higher classes are not equally amenable to reason and persuasion and are not amenable to hygienic laws which are indispensable in order to live the city life?"

For Gandhi such experience might have been deja vu. The major contention that the British and European citizens had against the Indians in the cities of South Africa was real but on occasions exaggerated. Working for years with the Indian communites, Gandhi had developed insights. Hence, he shared his ideas on working for Madras Social Service League. With visit to Kashi Vishwanath temple in mind, he shared his experiences at the Temple and the dirt on the streets of Kashi. He had been aghast to see the same dirt in the sanctuary (he may have used it for Sandcula Sandstorm). He said:

"What is true of Kashi Vishwanath is true in the majority of cases in our holy temples. Here is a problem for the Social Service League. It must not be a problem for government or municipality. Immediately you begin going to schools, you leave temples alone. Before we set our sights for this work, we should revolutionise the educational system. We are today in a false position and I promise that we shall incur the curse of the next generation for this great tragedy enacted before us. It is a matter for facing and redressing. The task may be herculean, but this reward will be adequate."

Gandhi observed sanitation, dirt and filth in most places in villages, cities, holy places, riverbanks, railway, ships, etc. He found negligence and irresponsibility on part of administrators, managers, and careereal. On the other hand, people were also being ignorant, arrogant and irresponsible in attitude and filthy and dirty in habits. He brought up the sanitation and hygiene issue in all possible meetings and conferences, making it part of his political, social and personal agenda. In South Africa, he accepted the charge of sanitation partially, but with great mitigation. Back in India not only his renunciation continued, but also increased immensely as he encountered sanitation everywhere. He, therefore, made it a point to bring it prominently by making it an important component of the constructive programme.

Applicants applying for both the posts of Auditor/Accountant and Clerk/DEO/Grade-A should submit separate application for the posts. Applications may be made in the prescribed format (Form-A) on plain paper affixing their recent passport size photograph, duly filled in should be sent to the concerned Nodal Office mentioned in Column number-2 of Tables in Para 1. No application should be sent to the CAG Office New Delhi. The application should be accompanied by attested copies of certificates in support of age, educational qualification, sports certificate and certificate of SC/ST/OBC where applicable. Aspirants shall be required to send copies of certificates awarded by the authorities mentioned in Annexure-IV (Forms 1, 2 and 3) in response to the advertisement at the time of submitting the application or otherwise, during field trials. In case of candidate, failing to do so, her/his candidature will be treated as cancelled without any further appeal/assigning any reason thereof. All candidates shall also give an undertaking in the format specified in Annexure-V on the genuineness of certificates furnished by them. Persons already in Government service should send their application through proper channel.

7. Selection process:

The selection process shall be carried out by the concerned Nodal Office with the help of a Selection Committee constituted for the purpose. All applications and certificates shall be scrutinised and the list of eligible applicants shall be prepared by the Nodal Office. Final selection will be done on the basis of the field trials and marks awarded for sports certificates (participation and achievements). Only those applicants who fulfil the eligibility criteria as mentioned in Para-2 shall be called for the field trial(s). Ranking of any candidate given by the respective Federation/Association will not be taken into consideration for recruitment of for seniority.

8. Award of Marks for certificates shall be based on production of originals for all certificates. Certificates for which originals are not produced on the day of field trial shall be summarily rejected and not considered. Award of marks for certificates shall be as per Annexure-VI (i and ii). For calculation of last five years of participation, just concluded calendar year i.e. 2020 will be treated as the first year.

9. Field trials of the candidates will be conducted to assess their sports performance and suitability for I&AD Team. Field Trials would consist of Fitness and Skill Tests.

   i. Fitness Test: During field trials, Fitness Test will be conducted first. The Selection Committee will conduct the Fitness Test and adjudicate the candidates and award the marks as per Annexure-VII (i to v). If any candidate secures less than 40% marks in Fitness Test, she/he will not be considered for the skill Test.

   ii. Skill Test: During the Skill Test performance of the candidates will be adjudged separately and marks will be awarded as per Annexure-VII (vi to ix).

   iii. Participation period: All persons appointed against sports quota shall be under probation for a period of two years from the date of appointment. Before completion of probation, the performance of the sportspersons shall be reviewed. If the performance of the person recruited under sports quota is considered unsatisfactory, her/his probation shall be extended for a maximum of two years, and the person will have to improve her/his performance to get confirmed. If even after the extended probation, the performance is found unsatisfactory, then normal procedure for removal from service shall be followed.

10. All India Service Liability: Candidates selected for appointment shall be liable to serve anywhere in India.

NATIONAL GANDHI MUSEUM...

is free. However, whenever any books, photos, exhibitions, documentation services, etc., are supplied, actual direct costs/service charges are recovered on non-commercial basis. This Museum is run on purely non-commercial lines. There are regular film shows, access to library areas and other facilities including free Wi-Fi. We organize special film shows and exhibitions on request outside the museum.

The museum was opened with certain aims and objectives. Do you think those objectives are being achieved?

The objectives with which the Museum was opened are to collect, preserve and display Gandhi’s records consisting of his letters, correspondence, manuscripts, books, photographs, cine-films, voice records, personal effects and mementos etc. To promote the study, diffusion and understanding of Gandhi’s life and message. To preserve and protect various places associated with Gandhi’s life and work. To publish literature, periodicals, books etc and many more objectives.

These are all the guidelines for our activities all through these years. We are fulfilling the objectives wherever possible, for example collection of relics of Gandhi. Even today we are collecting some of the items associated with Gandhi from various sources. This is an exciting journey and we have to go a long way. For example, identifying the places associated with Gandhi was done by the Gandhi Heritage Mission. Now we are also working to renovate the places of Gandhi Heritage Sites.

How does the museum manage its finances? Does the museum get financial support from the government?

Initially, it was established and maintained by the funds received from Gandhi Smarak Nidhi and donations from the public. NGM has received a total of Rs. 10 crore of Corpus Fund out of which Rs. 5 crore were received in the year 1996 and the next Corpus Fund of 5 crores was received in 2007 after a gap of eleven years. Out of the Corpus Fund received, NGM has managed to create a general fund grant received from the Gandhi Smarak Nidhi and donations, keeping the main corpus of Rs. 10 crore intact. However, the volume of total funds has definitely increased since the beginning of 1996 but the rise in expenditure is so high that even this increase is insufficient. We are managing our revenue expenditure but for capital expenditure, we are depending on sponsors, CSR funds, etc.

How do you propose to increase awareness about the life and philosophy of Gandhiji among the general public, especially the new generation?

The basic and fundamental objective of the Museum is to collect and preserve the legacy of Gandhi through relics, photographs, manuscripts and documents and other personal belongings of Gandhi. The people who visit the Museum will get the glimpses of Gandhi through our display and other modes. Therefore, we invite students of various schools and colleges to experience Gandhi in a day long programme ‘A Day with Gandhi’.

As an outreach programme we have Taking Gandhi Heritage to Students for which we visit the Institution. We organize photo exhibitions, quiz shows, programmes, storytelling etc for the students of that particular institution.

We organize regular programmes on various topics which are contemporary and relevant. We also organize exhibitions on various themes every three to six month. We prepare small pamphlets, photo cards, sayings of Gandhi etc. to distribute among the students and people in general.

We have also prepared a CD on Gandhiji in a pen drive which contains 100 photographs exhibition, A.K. Chettiar’s documentary film, 20 books by Gandhi and 10 books on Gandhi in a searchable pdf format, Gandhi’s original voice and bhajans. We prepared a beautiful exhibition on Life of Gandhi in 100 panels which can be displayed permanently in the educational institutions.

We are conducting programmes and activities in collaboration with other institutions. To name a few, we had a programme ‘Gandhi and Health’ in association with Indian Council for Medical Research, “Remembaring Gandhi-the Lawyer” in association with Delhi High Court Bar Association, ‘Gandhi and Railways’ in association with Rail Museum, etc.

We are also curating small Museum-cum-Exhibitions at various places like Gandhi Spas, educational institutions, public places like Airport, Railways Station.

We are conducting competitions (essay, oratational, drawing) for the students.

Do you think the message and philosophy of Gandhi is the most relevant in today’s world?

Certainly, Gandhi’s philosophy is more relevant than before. It is our duty to take the messages of life and works of Gandhi to the younger generation, especially to the student community.

Corona has given an everlasting lesson to all of us. The first lockdown was a shock to many people but it has opened up our eyes to reality. The so-called developed countries were also affected badly. The people away from the urban sector were unaffected. Corona has shown the ugly face of the development. Now it is time to revisit Gandhi in order to face the reality in a courageous way.

Gandhi’s philosophy of simple living and living in tune with nature has a greater relevance today. We should learn the lesson from the lockdown that the more you are self-contained, the more you are safe. As the American Civil Rights activist and great admirer of Gandhi, Martin Luther King, Jr said, “Gandhi was inevitable. If Humanity is to progress, Gandhi is inescapable. He lived, thought and acted, inspired by the vision of humanity evolving toward a world of Peace and Harmony. We may ignore Gandhi at our own risk.”

THE FIT INDIA MOBILE APP

Through this App, citizens can assess their fitness parameters through a series of simple tests and further get ways for the improvement of fitness on regular basis. Additionally, Fit India Mobile App is having features like setting daily activity and fitness goals, activity tracker, water intake, calorie intake and sleep tracker, etc.

The Fit India Movement was launched in 2019 with the vision of making India a fit and healthy nation. The key message is that fitness is easy, fun and free, and can be practised anywhere. One year later, on the occasion of the first Anniversary of Fit India movement, the Prime Minister launched The age-appropriate fitness protocols for three age groups (1) 5-18 years (2) 18-65 years, and (3) 65+ years’ developed by an expert committee and endorsed by World Health Organization (WHO). Now, the Fit India App is launched for this purpose. It is free and available in English and Hindi on both the Android & iOS platforms and has been developed keeping in mind that it works even on basic smartphones.

The unique features of the Fit India App are to empower each individual to check their fitness score based on a set of age specific fitness tests, and get specific recommendations on how to improve their fitness level through physical activities including yoga protocols. Animated videos have been provided to make individuals understand about the procedure for conducting the fitness tests themselves.

The protocol covers exercises that are universally followed and duly ratified by health experts.

The App has different food, activity and hydration need based on their age, gender, current lifestyle and body composition. The “My Plan” feature of Fit India Mobile App lets users define their current lifestyle - time spent on physical activity, water intake, sleep hours, current weight and targeted weight - to get a customised food plan, lifestyle changes for them to achieve their goals. The Fit India App recommends Indian food plan, number of glasses of water and number of hours of sleep. The “Activity Tracker” feature of the application helps users keep track of their daily activity levels. The realtime Step Tracker helps individuals track their daily steps and encourages them to set higher goals for themselves. They can set hourly reminders and track their progress of fitness scores and daily activity over a period of time, share their fitness and activity data with others to motivate more people to take up fitness and lifestyle changes.

The App also provides opportunities for individuals, schools, groups, and organisations to participate in various Fit India events, certification programs, etc. People can share their fitness success stories using this platform.

PM Modi meets world leaders, CEOs of top companies in Washington

Prime Minister Narendra Modi and US President Joe Biden participated in a bilateral meeting at the White House on January 20 this year. The White House also hosted the first in-person Quad Leaders’ Summit, which was attended by Prime Minister Modi, Australian PM Scott Morrison and Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga. PM Modi held a bilateral meeting with his Japanese counterpart Yoshihide Suga and discussed several issues including ways to give further impetus to trade and cultural ties. Shri Modi also met with his Australian counterpart Scott Morrison. Both the leaders resolved to continue close cooperation for mutual well-being, towards advancing their shared objective of an open, free, prosperous, and rules-based Indo-Pacific region. The Prime Minister also interacted with the top global business leaders including CEOs of First Solar, General Atomics, Adobe, Blackstone, and Qualcomm. World’s leading investment company Blackstone CEO Stephen Schwarzman said, India has been its best market for investment in the world. General Atomic CEO Vicki Lall led India’s policies and reforms in the field of drones. Prime Minister Modi and Mark Widmar, CEO of First Solar, agreed on enhancement of the manufacturing of solar equipment in India. Mr Widmar expressed happiness over the Indian policies for climate change and related industries. CEO of Qualcomm Cristiano Amon expressed enthusiasm to work with India on ambitious digital transformation programmes including in 5G, PM Modi and Telecome Wi-Fi Access Network Interfaces, and others. CEO of Adobe Shantanu Narayen expressed the desire to bring digital education to every child in India. Prime Minister Modi and Adobe CEO both emphasised on creating new centres of excellence in artificial intelligence in India.

China accuses US, UK of nurturing Cold War mentality

China has said it would closely monitor the US-UK Australia trilateral military pact, claiming it would gravely undermine regional stability and aggravate the arms race and confrontation among various regions including the South China Sea. "This trilateral security arrangement is seeking to revive the Cold War mentality, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian remarked, "China always believes that any regional mechanism must go with the trend of the times for peace and development and should be conducive to mutual trust and cooperation between the regional countries. They should not target any third party or form third party's interests."

India climbs to 46th spot in Global Innovation Index-2021

India has been ranked 46th by the World Intellectual Property Organization in the Global Innovation Index 2021 Rankings. India has been on a rising trajectory, over the past several years in the Global Innovation Index, from a rank of 81 in 2015 to 46 in 2021. The consistent improvement in ranking has been attributed to the immense knowledge capital, a vibrant start-up ecosystem and the remarkable work done by the public and the private research organizations. Scientific departments like the Department of Atomic Energy, Department of Science and Technology, the Department of Biotechnology and the Department of Space have played a pivotal role in enriching the National Innovation Ecosystem. NITI Aayog has been working tirelessly to ensure the optimization of the national efforts for bringing policy-led innovation in different areas such as electric vehicles, biotechnology, nanotechnology, space, alternative energy sources, etc.
