EMPOWERING GIRLS BEYOND EDUCATION

Dr. Yogesh Suri and Ms. Shruti Khanna

Embarking upon the journey to reach the 75th year of independence from British Rule, India has witnessed revolutionary changes on the front of women’s status in the society - from the age of Sati and dowry to the 21st century India wherein women have outperformed their male counterparts at Tokyo Olympics. This change from subjugation and exploitation to a position of equality and empowerment merits looking at the levers and contributors of women’s progress in the modern era.

India has successfully broken the “low literacy trap”.

Female literacy has increased multi-fold since independence from 9% in 1951 to 65% in the Census 2011. While the same increased from 27% in 1951 to 81% in 2011 for males indicating a narrower but persisting gender gap in education. Until recently, not many girls would enrol or complete their primary education. However, several affirmative policy actions have contributed to the steep progress of gender equity, particularly in education. This is reflected in the increase in gross enrolment ratio of girls to 98.7% at the elementary level, 90.5% at the upper primary level, and 52.4% at higher secondary level in 2019-20, as per UIDSE (Unified District Information System for Education)-data. Further, the UIDSE Report of 2019-20 reveals that the enrolment of girls from primary to secondary is more than 12.88 crore, showcasing a substantial increase by 14.08 lakh compared to 2018-19. Similarly, at the higher education level, narrowing the gap between girls and boys has been witnessed, with 49% of college students being females, according to the latest All India Survey on Higher Education. Nonetheless, more remains to be done. As revealed by a recent report by the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights, around 39.4% of girls aged 15-18 years are still not attending any educational institute across India. This problem is exacerbated by the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic, which has had a severe impact on females, threatening the decades of progress made in gender equality and women’s rights.

Educating and empowering girls and women and closing the global gender gap is critical to achieving the Agenda 2030 and Sustainable Development Goals. Goal 5 - achieve gender equality. Goal 8 - promote full and productive employment and decent work for all, Goal 1 - end poverty, Goal 2 - achieve food security, Goal 3 - ensure health, Goal 10 - reduce inequalities. However, it is important to note that girls’ empowerment goes beyond bringing girls into the educational system. It is also about creating an equal world where everyone has the chance to complete all levels of education. It is about creating equal opportunities to acquire the knowledge and skills needed to succeed in an ever-changing world, make their own life decisions, and contribute to their communities and society. In this light, today’s challenges for improving girls’ education, skills, and job prospects have changed. The years after schoolclique requires the most attention. With a rapidly...

HIGHLIGHTS

- World Rivers Day - For us, rivers are not mere physical entities; for us a river is a living unit...and that is exactly why we refer to rivers as Mother! Numerous festivals, festive occasions, functions of all kinds are organized to reignite the fires of love for the rivers.

- River pollution is a global problem and yet, in the vast laps of these mother rivers, our scriptures distinctly approve of polluting rivers, even a bit! And our traditions have been synchronous with the thought. You know, all of you, of that the western region of our India, especially Gujarat and Rajasthan, suffer from scarcity of water. They face famines, many a time. Now that is why, a new vision, a new innovation is the need of the hour, the need of the social life there. For example, when it starts raining in Gujarat, Jal-Jeelani Ekadashi is celebrated there. This means, it is synonymous with what we term as 'Catch the Rain' in today's times...accumulating each and every drop of water...Jal-Jeelani. On similar lines, after the rains, in Bihar and other parts of the East, the great festival of Chhath is celebrated. I hope that keeping the Chhath Pooja in mind, preparations for cleaning and repairing riverbanks and Ghats would have commenced. We can very well undertake the endeavour of cleaning rivers and freeing them of pollution with collective effort and support.

- The Narmada Ganga Mission too is making advancements...collective efforts of all, in a way, mass awareness; a mass movement has a major role to play in that. When we are celebrating 'World Rivers Day' (25th September), I praise and I appeal all dedicated to this work. But to all people living near every river, to countrymen I will urge that in India in all corners at least once in a year a river festival must be celebrated.

- Mahatma Gandhi has connected cleanliness to the dream of Independence. Today, after so many decades, the cleanliness movement has once again connected the country to the dream of new India. The way building of toilets has enhanced the dignity of poor, similarly economic cleanliness ensures rights of the poor; eases their life. You are aware of the campaign that the country started regarding Jhandan accounts. Today, because of this, the rightful money of the poor is getting credited directly into their accounts and because of this, obstacles like corruption have reduced very significantly. It is true that technology can help a lot in economic cleanliness. It is matter of delight for us that even in villages, the common person is getting connected in the direction of digital transactions through fin-tech UIPI...its prevalence has begun increasing. I will tell you a figure which will make you proud; during last August, 355 crore UIPI transactions took place in one month, that is more than nearly 350 crore transactions, that is, we can say that during the month of August UIPI was used for digital transactions more than 330 crore times. Today, on an average, digital payments of more than 2 lakh crore Ruppes is happening through UIPI. Through this, the economy of the country is gaining cleanliness and transparency, and we all know that now the importance of fin-tech is increasing a lot.

- Bapu had connected cleanliness with independence: the same way he had made khadi the identity of freedom. Today, in the 75th year of freedom when we are celebrating the Amrit Mahotsav of Independence, we can say with satisfaction today that our young generation today is giving khadi the place of pride that khadi had during freedom struggle. Today the production of khadi and handloom has increased multiple times and its demand too has increased. You too know that there were many such occasions when business of more than a crore rupees has been transacted in the khadi showroom in Delhi.

- In this period of Amrit Mahotsav, a campaign to disseminate to everyone the untold stories of the history of freedom is also on going...and for this, upon the wishes of the country and the world were called upon. For this more than 13 thousand people have registered till now and that too in 14 different languages. And for me a thought, also, is that non-resident Indians from more than 20 countries have expressed their wish to join this campaign. There is another interesting information- more than nearly 5000 up prades have been searching out tales of struggle for freedom. They have taken the lead to write something on those who are unsung heroes, who are un-named, whose names don't appear on the pages of history, on the theme of such unsung heroes, on their lives, on those events, that is the youth of the country have decided to bring forth the history of those freedom fighters who were not even discussed during the last 75 years. I appeal to all the listeners; I appeal to all those connected with the field of education. You too motivate the youth. You too come forward and it is my firm belief that during the Amrit Mahotsav of Independence the people who are working for writing history will make history as such.

- We all know about the Siachen Glacier. The cold there is so terrible that it is beyond capacity of a common person to live there. A few days ago, the feat that a team of 8 Divyang persons performed in this inaccessible region of Siachen is a matter of pride for every countryman. This team created a world record by hoisting a flag on the Guma Post situated at an altitude of more than 15 thousand feet at the Siachen Glacier. I commend the team for this historic and unprecedented achievement. It also shows the spirit of our countrymen to tackle every challenge with a "Can Do Culture", a "Can Do Determination" and a "Can Do Attitude".

- 2nd of October also mark the anniversary celebration of Bhagat Singh, Nirbhay Shastri ji. In his memory, this day also teaches us about, those who attempt new experiments in agriculture. To promote start-ups in the field of medicinal plants, an Incubator by the name of Med-Hub TBI is operational in Anand, Gujarat. In a very short time, this incubator associated with medicinal and aromatic plants has supported the business idea of 15 entrepreneurs. Priority is given to women in this company and they are also responsible for innovative herbal formulations.

- Ministry of Ayush has taken an interesting initiative to increase awareness of Ayurvedic plants and medicinal Plants among children and Professor Ayushman ji has taken the lead. Actually Professor Ayushman is the name of a comic book. In this short stories have been prepared through different cartoon characters. Along with this, the usefulness of healthy medicinal plants like Aloe Vera, Tuis, Amla, Giloy, Neem, Aashwagandha and Brahmi has been mentioned. Friends, in the current context, with the trend of people around the world regarding medicinal plants and herbal products increasing, India has immense potential. In the past, there has been a significant increase in the export of Ayurvedic and herbal products. I urge scientists, researchers and people associated with the start-up world to pay attention to such products, which not only increase the wellness and immunity of the people, but also help in increasing the income of our farmers and youth.

- Pandit Deen Dayal Upadhyay ji is one of the greatest thinkers of the last century. His economic philosophy, his policies aimed at empowering the society, the path of Antyodaya shown by him remain as relevant in the present context and are also inspirational. Three years ago, on his birth anniversary, the 25th of September, the world's largest health assurance scheme - Ayushman Bharat scheme was implemented. Today, more than two and a half crore impoverished people of the country have got free treatment up to Rs. 5 lakh in the hospital under the Ayushman Bharat scheme. Such a massive scheme for the poor is dedicated to the Antyodaya philosophy of Deen Dayal ji. If the youth of today inculcate values and ideals into their lives, it can be of great benefit to them.

- In the coming days, the whole country is also going to celebrate the festival of the victory of truth over untruth by Maryada Purushottam Shri Ram. But during this festival, we have to remember about one more fight - that is the country's fight against Corona. Team India is making new records everyday in this fight. With regards to vaccination, the country has made many such records which are being talked about the world over. Even after getting vaccinated, the necessary protocols has to be followed. I hope that once again Team India will keep the flag flying high in this fight.

EMPowering GIRLS BEYOND EDUCATION

transforming and globalizing the world, there is a need to educate and equip girls with the necessary life skills and attributes that will enable them to have equal opportunities in the labor market and thereby become equal contributors to the country's growth. World Bank has suggested a five-step strategy for "Skills Towards Employment and Productivity" to achieve the above objectives. The framework underscores a system of sequenced combination of education, training, and labor market activities as per the life cycle of a person, a girl, in this case, to impart skills needed for productivity and economic growth. The good news is that for each step of the framework, the Department of Women and Child Development has already rolled out a series of interventions that have helped girls and young women to fulfill their potential to make strategic choices in life.

Steps to empower girls and young women beyond education—enriching skills and job prospects

Step 1: Building a solid foundation through early childhood development (ECD). Research shows that shortcomings in this area are difficult to remedy, but with good ECD programs, one can avoid such disadvantages. ECD programs focus on building technical, cognitive, and behavioral skills conducive to high productivity in later life. The Government of India has implemented various schemes and programs emphasizing nutrition, stimulation, and cognitive skills in child development.

Integrated Child Development Services (ICDS) addresses the issue of the rapid development of children up to 6 years of age and on meeting the nutritional requirements of pregnant women and lactating mothers. National Nutrition Mission (NNM) — also known as POSHAN Abhiyan — is another step to cater to the nutrition as well as early developmental needs of the child; and Integrated Child Protection Scheme (ICPS) aims at creating a safe and secure environment for the overall development of children in need of care and protection in urban and semi-urban areas.

Step 2: Basic education — ensuring that all students learn with understanding and build a solid foundation, with clear learning standards, good teachers, adequate resources, and a proper environment. The central government has implemented a series of schemes/programs, including the Basic Education Block (BBB) scheme, which aims to bring behavioral changes in the society towards birth, education, and issues related to girls' empowerment over a life-cycle context.

The success of BBB is visible in terms of improvement in Sex Ratio at Birth from 916 in 2014-15 to 934 in 2019-20. Also, the gross enrolment rate of girls at the secondary level improved from 77.45% to 81.32%, as per the progress report by the Ministry of Women and Child Development. Some major interventions undertaken by the central government to promote basic education by improving access and availability of quality infrastructure include Mid-Day Meals at school, Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, Right to Education Act, and supporting the Indira Gandhi National Child Development Programme. Further, both the center and the state governments provide various scholarships to girls children to ease their access to education. Various state initiatives complement the central efforts. Such initiatives include Ladli Yojana in Delhi and Karnataka, Agla Bhagyashree Scheme in Karnataka, Saraswati Bicycle scheme in Chhattisgarh.

Step 3: Focus on providing girls and young women with relevant job skills that employers demand by developing the right incentive framework for pre-employment and on-the-job training programs and institutions. Designing and implementing programs such as the Scheme for Adolescent Girls (SAG) to empower girls in the age group of 11-18 years through nutrition, life skills, home skills, and vocational training courses, the scope for girls to get equipped with job-relevant skills remains limited. One possible reason could be that vocational courses for girls are highly gendered—tying, tailoring, etc., which only allows them entry into low-paying jobs in the unorganized sector.

Step 4: Creating an environment that encourages investments in knowledge and creativity.

Step 5: Emphasis on matching the supply of skills with the demand by moving towards a more flexible, efficient, and secure labor market. Though India is making fast development in attaining parity in basic education, there is still a significant gender disparity in labor force participation, with young women having a lower participation rate than men.

According to the United Nations Global Compact (UNGC) India Study, women's involvement in the domestic labour force has increased from 36% in 2006 to 51% in 2020. Gender disparity in labor market infrastructure causes women's exclusion from core industrial functions and, as a result, a reduced female presence in leadership positions. Women's economic empowerment promotes productivity, diversifies the economy, and increases income when they work.

For instance, UNGC India Study Report found that increased women's participation in the labour force to the same level as men will help in boosting India's GDP by 27%. For more women to enter into the labor force, the need of the hour is to invest in more equipment with women-friendly skills while breaking the stereotypes associated with the work they can do. Transforming skills into actual employment matters more to the girls as they often have limited access to opportunities due to social and cultural barriers.

Thus, in addition to celebrating India's commitment to improving gender equality in education, ensuring equal access to all levels of education and training to develop job-relevant skills and improved job prospects for women, India needs a tremendous collective effort. When a girl child is educated, the entire family is educated. Let us take pride in the efforts to ensure that all of our girls are empowered beyond education and contribute to creating a New India.

For more than 150 years, the Department of Posts (DoP) has been the backbone of communication and has played a crucial role in India’s social-economic development. It touches the lives of Indian citizens in many ways: delivering mails, accepting deposits under Small Savings Schemes, providing life insurance cover under Postal Life Insurance (PLI) and Rural Postal Life Insurance (RPLI), and providing retail services like bill collection, sale of forms, etc. The DoP also acts as an agent for the Government of India in discharging other services such as the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme wage disbursement, scholarships, and old-age pension payments. With more than 1.5 lakh Post Offices (nearly 90% or 1.4 lakh post offices are located in rural areas), the DoP has the most widely distributed postal network in the world.

While the core activity of the Department is processing, transmission, and delivery of mail and money remittance across the country, there is also a diverse range of services undertaken by the Department for more than a century, which include banking and insurance services. The Postmaster/Postman enjoys high credibility. With all-India reach and with local office/force capacity, India Post delivers social services and ensures financial inclusion in all rural/remote areas.

Over the past two decades, the world has seen a rapid transformation. With Globalization, the rise of the Internet, and the popularity of mobile telephony, traditional postal services may be fast losing their relevance. However, India Post has taken the right step at the right time by venturing into the field of financial services.

Services offered also include:

(i) Banking and Financial Services: Post Office Savings Bank, a bouquet of deposit instruments, instant payment-into-account facilities (India Post Payments Bank), ATM, e-Banking, MNREGA wage crop insurance, health, accident, and general insurance.

(ii) Distribution of third-party products: Provision of e-services for the general public, miscellaneous bill collection and payment activities, provision of information to Government Departments and Private sector and facilitation of documents, certificates, application forms (over 300 services), as on a commercial basis.

(iii) Management of government services: This includes delivery of several government services like Aadhaar services, Kisan Vikas Patras, Sukanya Samriddhi accounts, Jeevan Pramaan, National Savings Certificates, Jan Suraksha Schemes.

(iv) Post Office as Passport Seva Kendras: The service started after the DoP and the Ministry of External Affairs agreed to leverage the network of Post Offices as Passport Seva Kendras to provide passport services to citizens on a larger scale.

(v) Digital mode of payment for all the citizen-centric Services: The DoP and Common Service Centre (CSC) e-Governance Services India Limited, promoted by Meity (the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology) have signed a memorandum of agreement to provide Assisted Digital Services for various G2C (government to citizen) and B2C (business to customer) using CSC’s Digital Sewa portal.

India Post during COVID-19

The postal service was declared as one of the essential services during the period of lockdown. The Department of Posts leveraged its vast network of more than 1.57 lakh post offices and 4,000,000 postal employees on the ground to provide delivery of essential services to the citizens at their doorstep, even in the remotest corners of the country.

In order to facilitate doorstep delivery of essential services, “Post Info” mobile application was developed to receive service requests from customers who could not come to the post offices.

Beyond their service of delivering mails and schemes, they moved essential medicines for people, equipment for medical institutions, and even distributed food, ration, and PPE kits to needy people. Department of Posts, through its innovative Aadhaar Enabled Payment System (AEPS), served more than 3.27 crore beneficiaries by rendering financial assistance at their doorsteps.

Consequent to the suspension of train and flight services across the country, the mail Motor Service played a stellar role in ensuring the regular movement of essential goods, i.e., medicines, medical equipment, ventilators, COVID testing kits, etc. and other postal articles booked/posited by the general public, hospital, and various public and private sector laboratories.

Innovations

(i) To have a digital footprint of the clearance of public letterboxes, the Department of Posts has implemented electronic clearance of letterboxes through in-house developed “Nanyatha” software.

(ii) To put in place a mechanism to track the transmission of unregistered mail, which was hitherto handled manually, the Department of Posts has introduced barcoded label bags for unregistered mail to improve the quality of service for unregistered mail.

(iii) Under the Digital Advancement of Rural Post Office for a New India (DARPAN) project, the Department of Posts has provided SIM-based handheld devices to 1,29,159 Branch Post Offices all over the country for carrying out online postal and financial transactions.

When it comes to a career as a GIS expert, internships play an essential role since they provide an individual with practical knowledge about the field. The employers wish to hire those candidates who possess prior experience in GIS or have gone through practical training in GIS.

The candidates are required to opt for internships after completing their academic course as it brings them enormous industrial exposure.

The candidates get hands-on knowledge through practical training during internships. The work responsibilities of interns may vary from organization to organization. An intern is required to assist GIS analysts in updating land use and land cover data. An intern works with elevation data or may be involved in developing flood risk products or performing flood risk assessments.

The GIS market is projected to reach $25.6 billion by 2030. The consulting firm attributed much of this growth to the COVID-19 pandemic and the use of GIS in tracking the spread of the original virus, its variants, and vaccination distribution.

The emerging market for self-driving cars, increasing adoption of innovative home technology, and widespread availability of sophisticated drone technology will all contribute to pushing GIS forward.

The GIS field has already seen considerable growth in spatial knowledge and data-sharing. The increased availability of tools like open-source mapping and geospatial analytics allows professionals to tackle complex issues by drawing on the work of numerous experts across countless disciplines. Open-source mapping, for example, can provide real-time traffic data, which self-driving automobile developers and manufacturers can use to improve their vehicles’ responses to daily situations.

Businesses also use GIS to make strategic decisions that increase operational efficiency and revenue. Since online shopping and global supply chain networks are vital components of our worldwide economy, GIS is sure to remain a crucial investment for businesses, non-profit organizations, government, research, and academic institutions alike.

Equipped with data visualization and spatial analysis skills, GIS professionals qualify for occupations in countless fields. (The author is Counseling Psychologist & Career Consultant. She can be reached at nidhiprasads@gmail.com)

Boundary question different from border affairs: India tells China
India has asked China to avoid shifting goalposts and not to confuse managing the border affairs with the more significant issue of resolving the boundary question, which is dealt with by different designated mechanisms. India’s Ambassador to China Vikram Misri has said that any attempt to confuse border affairs with the boundary question while the two countries are working for a complete disengagement at the Line of Actual Control would be a disservice to those involved in finding solutions. He was addressing the High-level Track II Dialogue on China-India Relations. Ambassador Misri reiterated the Indian stance that the immediate focus should be on restoring peace and tranquility to the border areas rather than raising the larger boundary question. India’s stance has not changed despite Galwan incident, he emphasized.
